DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Thompson (US 4,561,124). Thompson discloses a garment (11) having an outer fabric defining outer and inner surfaces that covers the leg and torso sections having inner pocket panel being coupled to an inner surface of a inner lining of the garment by permanent stitching (23, 24) as shown in figure 4. Further, a removable, configured first and second knee pads (31) are each positioned between the pocket panel and the inner lining as shown in figures 1 and 4. In addition, a retaining panel (35) is disposed between the pocket panels and the inner lining as shown in figures 8 and 9. Furthermore, each of the pocket panel is defined by four edges that forms a first edge over the covering and is unfastened thereto while the second, third and fourth edges are connected to the covering so that the removable pad can be disposed between the pocket and the first folded edge as shown in figure 6. Furthermore, the pocket forms an openable seam having hook and loop fastener, col. 2, lines 5-6.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-9 and 12 are allowable because the prior art does not teach or suggest the recitation therein including an infant pants having an inner lining disposed inside of an outer fabric covering with first edges of first and second pockets being folded against the inner lining respectively, in combination second, third, and fourth edges of the first and second pockets secured to the inner lining in a knee region such that first and second pads are received in the first and second pockets with a first leg section having a longitudinal openable seam.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to

Applicant's disclosure.
